

Moran Demands Hylan Withdraw Curb Bill Veto

Threatens to Call Special Session of Aldermen to Pass Measure Aimed to Stop Street Brokerage

He Hotly Assails Mayor

Declares He Is in Error
When He Says Special
Privileges Are Granted

Robert L. Moran, president of the Board of Aldermen and the recognized leader of the Democratic majority in the board, declared yesterday that unless Mayor Hylan withdrew his veto of the Quinn ordinance licensing curb brokers he would convene a special session of the board, which adjourned Monday week for the summer, to pass the measure over the Mayor's veto. This ordinance, which was introduced by Alderman William F. Quinn, a Republican, following disclosures tending to show that some of the curb brokers were not keeping faith with their clients, provided that all curb brokers, regardless of where they traded, should pay an annual license fee of $500 to the Commissioner of Licenses. There were several other drastic provisions which were eliminated before the Committee on General Welfare of the Board reported out the Quinn ordinance.

The Mayor's veto, according to some aldermen, followed a visit of a delegation of curb brokers to the Mayor's office.

Mistake, Says Moran

"The Mayor," said President Moran, "was laboring under a great mistake when he vetoed the measure. He did not consult a single alderman that I am aware of before taking this action. Had he done so, he would not have vetoed this measure, which is necessary if we are to supervise the curb brokers. The Mayor evidently did not read the ordinance when he vetoed it. Otherwise, he could not have written in his veto message that the curb brokers really could evade the ordinance by moving their activities to other quarters within a block or so of the present site. The fact is that on the day of the veto, the Mayor was chairman of the Committee on General Welfare, amended the measure so that it applied to any street in the city of New York."

Calls It Exclusive Grant

"The Mayor is further in error when he wrote in his veto message that the ordinance appears to grant to the said association (of curb brokers) an exclusive privilege, that is, the privilege of selling, exchanging and trading in stocks at the particular site mentioned. The very first section of the vetoed ordinance reads: 'All persons dealing in the purchase, sale or exchange of stocks, bonds, notes or securities, in or upon any street in the City of New York, shall be deemed curb brokers.' Surely this is not an exclusive grant. The reasons set forth by the Mayor in his veto are not only insufficient, but incorrect. His Honor's failure to consider the aldermen makes it necessary that we assert ourselves."

Alderman Quinn had this to say: "The Mayor constantly is telling the poor that he loves them, yet he does not give them a chance to voice their opinion of an ordinance which is aimed at ending the swindling operations of a few curb brokers."

The Quinn ordinance was passed by unanimous vote of the board. Forty-eight yeas and two nays of the total membership, are necessary to pass the measure over the Mayor's veto.

Hylan's Name Replaces Mitchel's on Tablet

Stonemason Changes Record
Marking Erection of Black-well's Island Building

A stone tablet which peeps over the edge of Queensborough Bridge from its place on top of a ten-story warehouse on Blackwell's Island says John F. Hylan was mayor when the building was erected.

The cornerstone of this building was laid on October 25, 1917, when Mayor Hylan was county judge in Brooklyn and a mayoralty candidate. The late Mayor Mitchell favored the erection of this building because, like the apparatus could be brought to the island by using a runway to the roof and a huge elevator to the ground. Before that, officials were perplexed by the problem of fighting a large fire on the island.

A bronze plate was placed near the cornerstones to tell posterity that John F. Hylan was Mayor when the building was erected. A stone tablet was placed on the top floor, visible from the bridge, and conveying the same information.

Recently a stonemason spent long hours with the tablet. When he left it, Mayor Hylan's name was inscribed.

History Gets Mixed

Alleged Pseudo-Officer Arrested on Soldier's Complaint

John Blank, assistant manager of a Coney Island show, who served with the 108th Infantry of the Twenty-seventh Division in France, appeared as chief witness against August Haebler, whom he charged before United States Commissioner in Brooklyn with impersonation of an army officer. Haebler attended Blank's show in the uniform of a first lieutenant and wearing the insignia of Blank's old regiment. Blank asked him what company he belonged to and Haebler said it was the 108th. Blank then asked him with which company he happened to be that with which the showman served. The arrest followed. Haebler was held for examination next week.

The Gospel in Comfort

MIDDLETOWN, Conn., July 12.—The Rev. George B. Gilbert, rector of the Episcopal Church at Chester, is to have all the pews in his church removed and rocking chairs substituted. Mr. Gilbert says pews are a relic of the dark ages, and he thinks there will be a greater interest in churchgoing if conditions are made more comfortable when people come to hear the Gospel.

Before his sermon Sunday mornings Mr. Gilbert will read the headlines of a Sunday newspaper to his parishioners, so that they can get the gist of the news. Between Sundays the seats in the church will be removed and the boys of the parish will be allowed to play basketball on the church floor.

Jacobi Funeral To-morrow

Funeral services for Dr. Abraham Jacobi, who died Thursday at Lake George, will be in the New York Academy of Medicine, 17 West Forty-third Street, at 2 p. m. to-morrow. Physicians and others anxious to attend the ceremony requested the service be held there.

Martens Admits Reds Probably Slew U. S. Men But Bolsheviks Bear No Ill Will Toward Americans, He Declares

L. C. A. K. Martens, the Bolshevik "Ambassador" to the United States, admitted yesterday that it was probably true that Bolshevik forces in a series of encounters had killed and wounded American soldiers at Romanovka, Siberia, as reported yesterday by The Associated Press. But he insisted that if Americans were attacked it was because they were part of the Kolchak forces and not because they were Americans.

Martens said that the Bolsheviks bear no enmity toward the Americans in Siberia and Russia, but cannot understand why they should be fighting the Soviet government when the United States is not at war with that government. He said that the good faith of the Bolsheviks toward American soldiers is proved by the immediate liberation of all Americans captured in engagements.

"Some time ago," said Martens, "it was reported that the Bolsheviks captured several American soldiers and one lieutenant. We now know that the Bolsheviks liberated them immediately and as far as I remember, it was officially admitted by General Graves, the American commandant in Siberia. The Bolsheviks are not fighting the Americans, but the Kolchak forces."

According to Martens, a large anti-Kolchak force has been organized in this region of Siberia, estimated at between 30,000 and 50,000 men.

Will Apply for Writ to Free Paterson Radicals

PATERSON, N. J., July 12.—Application for a writ of habeas corpus for the release of the four members of the Paterson branch of the Amalgamated Textile Workers of America, arrested by the local police in a raid on the organization, will be made before Supreme Court Justice James F. Minton on Monday, Henry J. Minton, counsel for the defendants, said today. The men, who are Robert W. Dunn, Evan Thomas, Henry Burger and Louis Stein, are in the county jail here in default of $1,000 bail each on charges of advocating the destruction of the Federal government.

Capitalizing the incarceration of their "martyred brothers" workers for the Amalgamated, to-day started a membership campaign among the silk workers. They distributed cards reading: "One hundred new members for each day that our comrades are in jail awaiting a writ of habeas corpus."

Members of the organization were somewhat perturbed to-day over the action of the United Textile Workers, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, who announced themselves in favor of a forty-four-hour work week in Paterson, beginning August 4. This is one of the main demands that the Amalgamated has been fostering, and its presentation by the rival organization has deprived it of considerable thunder.

Urges Investigation of German-American League

The American Defence Society yesterday urged Attorney General Edward J. Brundage, of Illinois, to investigate the charter of the German American Citizens' League which was recently organized in Chicago and whose membership is limited to persons of German extraction. This action is requested with a view of ascertaining whether the new organization is a recrudescence of the German-American Alliance, whose charter was cancelled by the Federal government.

The society's letters to Mr. Brundage reads:

"The American Defence Society desires to call to your attention the organization in Chicago of the German American Citizens' League, whose membership is limited to those of German extraction, which includes in its purposes the preservation of the German language and kultur and which is formed for the avowed purpose of wielding political influence. The formation of political groups along the lines of nationality tends to destroy the unity of the American people and is directly opposed to the ideals of American democracy."

"The creation of this organization imposes upon the American people the duty of watching its activities and of causing political candidates and managers to realize that the acceptance of the support of pro-German organizations means the withdrawal of loyal American votes."

"The board of trustees of this society earnestly hopes that you will investigate the charter of the German American Citizens' League and their actual purposes as opposed to their ostensible purposes with a view to ascertaining whether they are, or are not, a recrudescence of the German-American Alliance, whose charter was cancelled by the United States government."

According to Richard M. Hurd, one of the trustees of the society and who it will be remembered, led the fight of the society against the German American Alliance, if other races formed organizations, political matters would go along racial lines entirely and Americanism would take second place.

Policeman Hurt While
Chasing Speeding Auto

While pursuing one automobile, whose driver was exceeding the speed limit, Motorcycle Patrolman James Gunshavin was struck by another car yesterday on Riverside Drive. Patrolman James O'Connell, who saw the accident, set out in another motorcar to pursue the speeding automobile. William Garton, of 435 Fort Washington Avenue, who was charged with speeding, John S. Esposito, driver of the car that struck Gunshavin, was charged with driving recklessly. Gunshavin was not seriously hurt.
